List-topping competency

Few law offices can offer list-topping competency within music and entertainment. INTER has solid knowledge within an industry that has become one of Sweden’s most talked about export areas. Among our clients you will find artists, song writers and producers, as well as record companies, music publishers, film production companies, management companies and booking agencies. Music and entertainment is an area where you are rewarded for being in tune, which goes for music and entertainment law as well.

INTER offers qualified legal advice when it comes to areas such as contracts, taxation and corporate matters among others. We also assist clients in contract negotiations and disputes.
